

South Hills Junction

Transit-Oriented Development

PortAuthority

We're planning for the future of South Hills Junction!

Please join us for our final public meetings to review the conceptual design for the South Hills Junction Station Area Plan!

Port Authority of Allegheny County has been exploring the redesign of the station area to improve station access and design, and opportunities for transit-oriented development. With guidance from the Authority, local leaders, and members of the community a final conceptual plan for the station has been developed.

We invite you to join us at one of our virtual public meetings to learn about the completed conceptual plan working towards a more accessible and user-friendly station.
