

One Port Authority employee has tested positive for COVID-19 since the last update on September 16, bringing the total number of employees to 52.

The employee works as a building maintainer out of a Port Authority facility located at South Hills Junction. They have been off work and in a medically directed self-quarantine since Monday, September 21. They tested positive on Friday, September 25.

Of the 52 Port Authority employees who have tested positive for COVID-19 since March, 47 have recovered and have been cleared to return to work. Five, including the most recent case, are at home recovering.

Port Authority continues to follow all state and county health department guidelines and as with all previous cases, confidentially reported these cases to the Allegheny County Health Department.

Port Authority reminds all riders that vehicle capacity limits will remain in place so riders can socially distance as much as possible.

Face coverings are required to be worn at stops and stations, when boarding and riding inside vehicles, and at the Downtown Service Center.
